Observe United Nations Day

A sunny day and a good natured crowd composed of City officials, prominent citizens and the general public marked the occasion of the United Nations Day celebration held on the court house lawn Tuesday, Oct. 24 at 10:30 a.m.

The ceremonies were opened with a short address by Mayor Warren Carver and a rendition of a selection from the Leonard parade music by the St. Stanislaus Band, which added much color to the occasion with their crimson uniforms.

This was followed by a hymn sung by the Bay High choral group composed of girls and boys from Bay High School. The hymn selected was "Lead Me Lord."

Mayor Carver then announced to the crowd that the speaker of the day, Mr. Vincent Carden had apparently been delayed and requested band to entertain the assembled group with another selection. They complied by playing several compositions of Carl King.

After this the choral group sang "Onward Christian Soldiers." Miss Madge Allred then presented the beautiful United Nations flag, deftly blue centered with a gold point of the globe surrounded by a laurel wreath, and this together with the American flag was raised on the flag pole in front of the court house while the band played the National Anthem and boy scout troops 217 and 208 stood at attention.

Following the flag raising a broadcast of the United Nations ceremonies in Berlin were heard by the crowd. General Lucius Clay spoke from Berlin and the ringing of the United Nations Bell from the city gave a fitting climax to the occasion.

This however was not the climax as at this point Mr. Carden appeared, stating with apologies that he had been detained by (1) a flat tire, (2) a traffic ticket.

He then spoke briefly of our duties as American citizens stressing the need for tolerance in our relationship with our fellow man. He spoke of the wonderful example that we have given to the world in sending our troops to Korea to help preserve the freedom of all nations in the true Christian tradition, pointing this up with the quotation "greater love than this hath no man, than he lay down his life for a friend."

Mr. Carden particularly mentioned the need of present day economy in both public officials and private citizens and the necessity of building a solid foundation for the United Nations through an effort to understand our fellow Americans and through the brotherhood of man under God.

Little Theatre Play "The Great Big Doorstep" Is Shaping Up Well

Of special significance in the Little Theatre is Mac Langurand's performance as the Commodore in the current play, "The Great Big Doorstep," to be presented on November 9-10-11.

The play is under the direction of C. D. Blair who will be remembered as Mr. Stanley in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and who has been very active backstage since the Little Theatre's inception five years ago.

As the cousin father of a large and not too well family, Langurand promises audiences a realistic and understanding interpretation of the part. With him in the play, an adaptation of E. P. O'Donnell's novel, are the following: Evvie Crochet by Noelle Dick; Topal Crochet by Mary Lynn Raymond; Mrs. Crochet by Janie Langurand; Elma Crochet by Jeanne Laroux; Fleece Crochet by Rossie Coward; Arthur Crochet by Larry Schaff; Mr. Tobin, by James Fillingame; Mrs. Duppre, by Mrs. Marguerite Backman; Tavo Delacroix, by Wilmer Thibaux; Dewey Crochet, by George Fletcher; Mrs. Beaumont Crochet, by Imogene Allison.

Provisional League of Women Voters Hear Mrs. Errol Horner of Washington Friday Night at Bay Central Hi School

Regarded as successful from every standpoint, the three day conference of the Bay St. Louis Provisional League of Women Voters with Mrs. Errol Horner, Organizational Secretary of the National League ended with a committee meeting on Saturday of last week.

Mrs. Horner, who came here from a meeting in Natchez and who has headquarters in Washington, D.C., expressed satisfaction with the progress that the league has made in Bay St. Louis.

The conference opened with a breakfast at the home of Mrs. Leo Seal on North Beach on Friday morning, Oct. 20. Mrs. Seal entertained the executive board of the local league and Mrs. Horner. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. T. T. Robin.

A delicious breakfast of tomato juice, scrambled eggs, bacon, hot rolls and coffee accompanied by individual dishes of condiments was served the guests in the dining room of the Seal home. The table was artistically decorated for the occasion with two antique mahogany composites overflowing with grapes.

After the breakfast a meeting of the executive board was held. This was followed in the afternoon by an open meeting at the Bay High auditorium attended by members of the league and other prominent citizens.

Mrs. Adaline Samuel, president of the Bay St. Louis league introduced Mrs. Horner at this meeting and also at the evening meeting which was held in the auditorium at eight o'clock. Approximately 75 people attended the meetings including Mayor Warren Carver and Commissioners Cyril Glover and Sylvan Ladner.

Mrs. Horner addressed a called meeting for the purpose of organizing this league here six months ago and she expressed her surprise and delight at seeing a well organized league within six months with a membership of 93 and a little more than 60 paid up members and $70 in the treasury. Mrs. Horner said that the national league has a membership of 93,000 in 47 states, Honolulu and Alaska.

The speaker gave an outline of the purpose of the league and it had adopted a non-partisan policy in its organization and that it is non-partisan. The work of the league she said is confined to government affairs only and the league felt that it could do a better job as a non-partisan organization.

"When you elect someone to Congress and they are in your opinion failing to do what is needed most you must remember that your vote put them in office. You either voted wisely or you didn't vote and it is the work of the league to see that voters are qualified; that more people vote and that more people pay their poll tax."

It also the work of the league, Mrs. Horner said, to study the organization of the United Nations and strengthen its work.

Booklets giving the information gathered on "Know Your Town Government" by eleven committees composed of members of the provisional League of Women Voters of Bay St. Louis were distributed. These cover in a condensed form all phases of the town government.

Before the night meeting in the auditorium Miss Temple Perkins rendered Sibelius' "Romance" on the piano and after the meeting a social hour was held in the attractive home economics room at the high school where punch and iced cakes were served from a table laid with a lace cloth and centered with a large bowl of wild ageratum and daisies. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Odette Wittelsberger, Mrs. Frank Kiefer and Mrs. C. D. Blair.

Bay High Tigers Chalk Up Third Victory Friday

Bay High Tigers chalked up their third win on Friday, October 19, when they beat the Delgado Trades School of New Orleans at St. Stanislaus Stadium 21-0.

Truman Schultz, fullback of the Tigers, carried the pigskin over for the first touchdown on an off-center play after Bobby Clapp, halfback of the Tigers, carried the ball to the eight yard line on ten and twenty yard runs. Clapp plowed through center for the extra point.

Bobby Clapp then went through the Delgado line making the second TD. A pass to John Ginn, end, was good for the extra point.

In late minutes of the game the Tigers took to the air with Herman Price, quarterback, doing the passing. However, the Bay High boys called a play through center instead of a pass on Delgado's five surprising the New Orleans team. Clapp carried the ball over for the third touchdown. Frank Gowan, quarterback, made the point on a quarterback sneak. As the game ended the score was Bay High 21, Delgado 0.

Bay High threw eight passes, completed four and had one intercepted. Delgado threw ten passes, completed three and had one intercepted. Bay High fumbled once; Delgado once.

Secretary to uniformed opinion, he said that England is definitely going communistic and that, in his opinion, the English people are bending every effort to improve their political and domestic situation and to effect a recovery from conditions brought about by world war II.

INTERVIEW WITH MRS. ERROL HORNER TELLS OF WORK AND HOBBY

It would be impossible to guess, looking at the soft blue eyes and listening to her musical voice, that Mrs. Errol Horner is the efficient Organizational Secretary of the League of Women Voters of the United States of America. Sounds important, doesn't it? She is important, with a far reaching job which carries her to every corner of the country and demands her constant attendance at conferences, meetings and social functions.

"I am really domestic," she tells you, "and keep a summer home in Connecticut where I spend one month out of the year with my family." Her family consists of two sons and a daughter and, believe it or not, grandchildren.

Mrs. Horner is a native of New Jersey and has an apartment in Washington where "unfortunately," she states, "I am able to live for about six weeks a year due to the many trips required to keep up with my work in the League." For these six weeks in Washington she "goes domestic" and has time for her hobby, which is cooking. "I have a lot of fun," she states, "trying out recipes that I have collected from all over the country."

Mrs. Horner is well pleased with the progress made by the recently organized League of Women Voters in Bay St. Louis. "It is amazing," she states, "how quickly the league here has completed the publication of the town survey, which was their initial project. I hold great hopes for the local chapter which seems to be off to a wonderful start and should prove very effective in presenting unbiased facts about political candidates to the citizens."

She is much interested in the organization of the state league and plans for this were discussed at the meeting in Jackson three weeks ago. A skeleton organization was created at that time and an agreement made that a meeting would be held in six months to formulate definite plans for a state league. There are already two provisional Leagues of which Bay St. Louis is one and Natchez the other, two established leagues at Jackson and Meridian, and a prospective League at Greenville.

"I think the next project of the Bay St. Louis League," she tells you "should be the accomplishment of a one hundred per cent membership turnout at the polls on November 7, which in your case means ninety five members. If each member contacts even one voter we should go a long way towards electing good candidates I hope," she stresses, "that the citizens will understand that the League is strictly non-partisan."

Mrs. Horner is charmed with Bay St. Louis and Bay St. Louisians are also charmed with Mrs. Horner and when she returns for a promised visit in the spring, although we may not roll out the barrel, she will undoubtedly be met by the city's best brass band.

REMEMBER—

IN FLANDERS' FIELD
By Colonel John McCrea
In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row by row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead.
Short days ago we lived, felt dawn,
Saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from failing hands we throw
The Torch—be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.

MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTION

The problem of safety on the highways requires more than speeches deploring the loss of life and limb. It is a situation that requires concerted and prolonged attack by officers and officials charged with enforcing traffic regulations.

There is also a need for periodic inspection of automobiles using the highways. There are thousands of dangerously defective motor vehicles on the roads every day, and they are apt to be involved in serious accidents. We think the General Assembly should institute, on a permanent basis, the inspection program that was in force some years ago.

The overloading of trucks is another dangerous menace. Undoubtedly, there are many truck operators who scrupulously obey the law but just as apparently there are hundreds who disobey safety regulations. An overloaded truck, one should remember, cannot stop in the face of an emergency and may easily crash into other vehicles.

TRY THINKING FOR YOURSELF

The average American, perplexed by the great issues that confront the people of this great country, finds it difficult to develop sound opinions in the face of the rapid partisanship that is exhibited by politicians, newspaper writers, radio commentators and other so-called leaders of public opinion.

There is quite a tendency to accept, without question, any statement or assertion that fits in with what the individual wants to believe. Moreover, there is a lamentable determination on the part of nearly everybody to persuade everybody to fall in line with whatever is being peddled by the individual.

It might be a good idea for us, once in a while to pay tribute to the stubborn independence of the hardy citizen who has the nerve to look the population in the face and say, despite the popular flurry, "I don't agree."

In fact, it might be even better, when you run across somebody who disagrees, to give your own views a mental checkup, intelligently assessing your own opinions on the basis of what you know and what you do not know to be the truth. This does not mean accepting the opinions of somebody else as a undeniable fact. It means using your own intelligence and your experience to balance your own thoughts and actions.

SOUTHERN BELL'S NOV. HEARING FOR 'FAIR RETURN' CASE

Jackson, Miss. Hearing on Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company's "fair value return" increase in intrastate rates has been postponed to November by the Mississippi Public Service Commission. Both parties asked for the continuance.

The petition of Southern Bell asking for the rate revision calls for a tariff sufficient to provide a fair return on its properties devoted to the public service in Mississippi.

According to the company, it is now deriving around 4 per cent on the fair value of its Mississippi properties, which is insufficient to attract investment of needed new outside capital to continue its far-reaching rural and city expansion program.

If the commission should grant the increase, it would amount to only about 6 per cent in contrast to the raise of around 7 1/2 per cent in other costs of living. Increased prices for equipment, coupled with wage raises given employees, accounts for the small return being earned by the company.

F. E. Gillis, rate expert of the public service commission, said the new rates sought by the company call for an average increase of only 6 per cent.

Three previous rate increases granted the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co., since 1947, have amounted to $3,000,000 added revenue and compares with the more than $41,000,000 in new facilities the company has installed in Mississippi since 1945. At present, around $9,000,000 a year is being spent by the company, mostly in bringing telephone service to rural areas of Mississippi.

For that reason, T. E. Harris, Mississippi manager, said it is important to the continued development of Mississippi that rates be adjusted so that earnings will be adequate to attract capital in competition with other businesses.

MISSISSIPPI SIGNS UP 126 DOCTORS

Patton said 75 of those registering were practicing physicians, 33 were dentists and 18 veterinarians.

Patton said he did not know when inductions will begin. The Army has asked for 920 doctors, 500 dentists and 100 veterinarians next month.

The children enjoyed band selections by the Saint Stanislaus Band, choral selections by the Bay High Chorus and a short talk by Mayor Warren Carver. "Walk Softly, Stranger" At Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre Sun. & Mon., Oct. 29-30

SHE SURRENDERED HERSELF TO HIS... AND THEN HIS DARK PAST ROLLED IN LIKE A BLACK FOG!

Here is summarized the terrific woman appeal infusing "Walk Softly, Stranger"—the absorbing drama of a man and a woman, lonely even among crowds, wanting to love and be loved, but afraid of what might happen if they give themselves freely and fully. And with this great theme of emotional conflict is a mood of brooding suspense, a story flashing with action and thrills.

Coast preview audiences hailed with rousing applause Joseph Cotten's performance as a charming heel hero, and Valli's superb romantic interpretation of a wealthy, lovely, but handicapped girl.

The picture introduces Cotten as a smooth card-sharp who selects a hide-out in a small town, which he claims as his birthplace. At the Country Club he meets Valli, daughter of the town's richest man, but embittered because she is unable to walk due to a skiing accident. Feeling they are both outcasts, they are drawn together.

When Cotten tells Valli that he has been in love with her since school days, she pretends to believe it, suspecting that his feeling is only pity. But Cotten is sincerely in love, and pulls one last job for funds to settle down at act as a respectable citizen. Then he confesses his past to Valli, but their wonderful dream is exploded in a tense, terrific action-climax—by the reappearance of Cotten's pal, and the relentless vengeance of the Big Shot he robbed.

COTTON CURBS

All restrictions on cotton production in the United States in 1951 have been lifted by the Government, according to Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, who points out that the nation needs at least two-thirds more cotton than farmers grew this year. Otherwise, it might run into a serious shortage under the national defense program. Farmers have been asked to plant at least 72,000 acres in 1951, compared with about 69,000,000 this year.

of corn on one acre on his farm. This announcement was made by W. C. Entekin, instructor for the on-farm training program of Perkinson Junior College. The high yields were made as a part of the Mississippi program to increase corn production instituted by the late D. L. Williams, coordinator of research of Mississippi State College in 1948.

Jackson Miss. Former State Sen. Frank H. "Peacemaker" Harper, Hattiesburg has been placed on the Nov. 7 general election ballot as an independent candidate against Congressman William M. Colmer, Pascagoula.

The 78-year-old Harper, who served in the Legislature from 1908 to 1912 and later from 1912 to 1940, was placed on the ballot by petition, the secretary of state's office said.

He is the only opponent of Colmer, who was unopposed this summer for the Democratic renomination, in the Sixth Congressional District race.

Under state election laws, a candidate can qualify on petition of 50 qualified electors. A petition bearing approximately 70 names, of which at least 50 were certified as qualified voters in the Congressional District, had been filed by Harper.

In five other of the seven Congressional Districts, the "Lily White" Republican party of Mississippi has qualified candidates on the Nov. 7 ballot to oppose Democratic nominees.

In the First District, Congressman John E. Rankin is opposed by Glenn Haynes; in the Third District, Democratic nominee Frank E. Smith, is opposed by Nelson E. Taylor; in the Fourth District, Congressman Thomas G. Abernethy is opposed by G. O. Deaton; in the Fifth District, Congressman Arthur Winslow, is opposed by J. JOHNSON HAS NEW 1951 OUTBOARD MOTOR

The much discussed rumor among outboard motoring circles that Johnson was coming out with a new, larger horsepower motor was confirmed today by C. A. Breath, Jr., local authorized Johnson dealer, upon his receipt of an announcement of the 1951 Johnson line from Johnson Motors, Waukegan, Ill.

The new motor, largest alternate firing twin in outboard motoring history, is certified at 25 horsepower, and weighs only 85 pounds. C. A. Breath announced that the delivered price of the new Sea Horse 25 in Bay St. Louis would be $355.50.

Mr. Breath added that this is the lowest price per horsepower of any service outboard ever built.

Capable of top speeds of over 30 miles per hour, the new Johnson 25, according to Mr. Breath, is so designed and engineered that it may be throttled to slow trolling speeds for the fishing enthusiasts. Such a wide performance range, he added, is unprecedented in the annals of outboard motoring.

Gear Shift Control providing Neutral, Forward and Reverse and the separate six gallon Mile-Master fuel tank, pioneer developments of Johnson Motors, are included in the long list of features built into the new model.

According to the factory announcement, Mr. Breath said, the new Sea Horse 25 is an easy starting motor due to its oversized starting drum, improved carburetion, synchronized spark and throttle control and a new water proof magnet. A deluxe ready-pull rewind starter is standard equipment.

New Jersey boys admit setting six fires costing $100,000.

SHIPYARD WORKERS ON GULF COAST SEEK WAGE HIKE

Mobile, Ala.—Shipyard workers of the Gulf Coast and Jacksonville, Fla., areas reported that they are seeking a 10 cent hourly wage boost due to a rise in living costs and other factors.

Ports represented are Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., New Orleans, Mobile and Galveston, Houston and Beaumont, Tex. The basic hourly wage rate for first class mechanics at the three Mobile shipyards is $1.55. Two yards have contracts with AFL unions and one with a CIO union. They employ a total of 3,500 workers.

President C. J. Batley of Local 18, CIO Marine and Shipbuilding Workers said there were several reasons for asking for reopening of contracts for consideration of wage increases.

His statement said in part: "At the time most of us consummated our present agreements our country was not involved in war; work was scarce; competition was tough. Since the beginning of the Korean conflict and rearmament began shipyard work has increased and the prospects of a greater volume of work for the next two years are excellent."

Telephones Going in Faster on Mississippi Farms

Southern Bell installers have put in more than 9,000 new telephones in Mississippi rural areas so far this year. To make these installations, line crews had to set 4,000 poles and string 12,000 miles of wire on these new poles and on hundreds of "joint-use" poles belonging to other wire using companies such as the REA and power companies.

Today approximately 125 workers are busy full time expanding Mississippi's farm telephone network at the fastest rate in history. A total of more than 100 rural projects are in various stages of engineering and construction.

We've spent more than $6,000,000 for rural telephone expansion in Mississippi during the past 4½ years and we're building at an even faster rate now. Yes, filling Mississippi's demands for rural telephone service is a big and expensive job, but we're making substantial progress.

der the Committee's plan. Each bureau will be headed by a chief appointed by the director. The department would be organized by functional appropriations. The Legislature and all fees, charges and other activities would be deposited in the general fund of the state.

The report emphasizes that no functions presently being performed by existing agencies could be curtailed under the plan, but rather they would be coordinated under the proposed Department of Commerce. In this way, the state could be greatly reduced, the report states.

Regarding the proposed transfer of the administrative duties of the four professional licensing agencies to the office of the Secretary of State, the report points out that the administering of examinations and the granting of licenses would be retained by the existing boards, but the number of administrative personnel needed to perform the administrative functions could be reduced and the general public could be better served through this common service.

The Committee recommends that the three-member Public Service Commission continue to perform the quasi-judicial and judicial work involved in public service regulations but that all work of administrative and non-judicial nature be transferred to the Bureau of Regulation in the proposed State Department of Commerce. Under the Committee's proposals the public service commissioners would be appointed by the Governor, one from each of the Supreme Court Districts, for staggered terms of six years.

Recommendations made by the Committee regarding the Office of Commissioner of Public Safety would change its legal name to the Department of Public Safety and provide that it be subdivided into three bureaus, namely: Administrative Service, Licensing, and Highway Safety Patrol. Each bureau would be directed by a chief, appointed by the Commissioner of Public Safety.

The report contained no recommendations for changes in the Workmen's Compensation Commission and the Assistant General's Office other than to transfer the latter to the Executive Office of the Governor, there to be designated as the Bureau of Military Affairs.

The members of the Sub-Committee which prepared the report acted upon by the full committee included Senator Carl Johnston, Calhoun City, Chairman; Senator John H. Culkin, Vicksburg; and Representative Tyler Holmes, Wiggins. Senator Johnston said, "It was the intent of the sub-committee in preparing the report for the consideration of the full committee, to provide a sound organization plan for the agencies that render protection to persons and property which would result in a coordinated effort and the performance of all functions presently being performed at a minimum cost to the taxpayers."

Hancock Court Ruling Affirmed on RR Death

JACKSON, Miss.—The Mississippi supreme court this week affirmed a Hancock circuit court ruling in behalf of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad in a damage suit brought by the widow of a man killed on the tracks of the railroad at Waveland.

The ruling in favor of the railroad was in the case of Mrs. Lillian B. Fayard et al vs the Louisville and Nashville. The court, in an opinion by Commissioner Coleman, ruled that there was no evidence presented to show that the engineer of the train which struck her husband, William Fayard, had not exercised due precaution and had not kept proper lookout.

In other actions, it reversed and remanded the conviction and three-year sentence of a man charged with burglary of merchandise from a Jefferson Davis county school district, affirmed a lower court reversal of a Workmen's Compensation Commission ruling in a hernia case in George county, upheld a Yazoo county chancery court's ruling that the county did not legally own three tracts of land by private citizens which the county contended were parts of 16th section school land.

As we know there can be no prosperity, nor any lasting peace while masses of people through no fault of theirs live in conditions of intolerable need and suffering. Solution of the refugee problem demands international cooperation, but involves more than governments.

Offerings on this day will help in the work of the Church among the neediest and some are knitting a warm garment for one of these older refugees. In the face of continued suffering and need let us give as liberally as possible on World Community Day.

AUTO DEALERS HIT NEW CREDIT CURB

Mississippi Group Requests Action on Measure

Biloxi, Miss.—The Mississippi Automobile Dealers Association said this week the new credit terms for automobiles threatened many dealers with bankruptcy.

The association, holding its annual convention, called upon the Mississippi congressional delegation to demand that the Federal Reserve board rescind the credit terms which require payment in 15 months.

"A resolution adopted at the meeting said that sales already have suffered severe curtailment and the new rules would reduce sales further and cause many dealers to go into bankruptcy. Many dealers are already forced to lay-off from 25 to 50 per cent of their employees as a result of declines in business due primarily to credit curbs," the dealers said.

The dealers elected Tom Garrett, Jr., Tunica, to succeed S. E. Krossman, Cleveland, president. Garrett is a member of the state House of Representatives.

Other new officials include V. M. Box, Corinth, J. J. Harry, Gulfport, and Rodney Henderson, Jackson, vice-president, C. H. Hawkins, Kosciusko, secretary-treasurer, Geo. Suggs, Jackson, was re-elected manager.

REMEMBER WHEN

...it always rained on wash day

Perhaps you're still plagued by rainy wash days . . . still hang wet clothing on chairs or improvised lines in the kitchen or bathroom. If so, you have a real treat coming—the smart, new natural gas clothes drier. It takes a full washing machine load, tumbles it dry in less than an hour, leaves it sweet-smelling and sterile. The clothes drier is another of the wonderful conveniences you can enjoy through natural gas service. It's the answer to all-weather wash days . . . inexpensive to buy, easy to install, economical to operate. See the late model natural gas clothes driers today—wherever fine gas appliances are sold.

Scores of companies are in the business of producing, transporting or distributing natural gas—providing good jobs and important payrolls for thousands of men and women here in the Gulf South. Every one you know benefits, in one way or another, from the operations of the natural gas industry.

Why is a sense of humor a thing of awe to some? And yet a glum appearance is like a beating drum. To smile and laugh and bring good cheer, is after all, why we are here."

I remember writing that one night after I had returned from church. I had stood after service, talking to a group of sisters. I felt "bubbly" and was particularly happy after such an inspiring text. My conversation ran on into what I considered a rather amusing story (at least it had drawn a laugh from previous auditors) and when I concluded it the air was thick with silence. The anecdote hadn't registered—not even one smile. The attitude of "The Foreign Legion" (as I was wont to refer to the group of sisters) was one of deliberate cold shock. They were, I learned later, averse to good, haughty laughter, especially after church. It was always my contention that attending church should make one cheerful and happy, but apparently their impression was quite contrary. There was only one of the five who manifested any semblance of joviality. The other four never had the good fortune to see even smile. Sadly, one lost her mind eventually. Another, who had at least been cordial, turned to be a tyrant. I've lost track of them now, but it would be interesting to know about the others. To me, a sense of humor is a valuable, priceless thing—a thing which means the boundary line between sanity and insanity, health and ill health, happiness and tragedy. I have often pondered what different lives some people might live did they maintain or retain a sense of humor. I cannot help but think that even Jesus with all the incumbent misery that was thrust upon him, must have had a sense of humor, since it occurs to me that it is a superior quality in man. There is no record that he had but since He was the only perfect man He must have reflected good humor among His other attributes. So, why put on a false face after church services?

In a recent poll amongst college men to determine what qualities the majority preferred in women eighty-nine out of one hundred said "a pleasant personality" or "a happy countenance" or a "good solid sense of humor." They mentioned this before they did beauty. I am thinking of someone at this instant who is unusually attractive, intelligent and cultured but who also bears such a phlegmatic countenance that she is as equally unpopular. Did you ever try smiling and being pleasant for one whole day? To everyone, no matter how they get under your skin? It isn't easy but it does pay dividends. And, it's good for you. You'll live longer. My friend E. says, "It keeps one from spending hours in a doctor's office." I believe she is right.

Speaking of polls about women William A. Lydgate has an informative article in a current magazine called "What Men Think about Women." He says that gentlemen do not prefer blondes—that a vote in a recent survey was 43 per cent for brunettes, 23 per cent for blondes and 2 per cent for redheads. Twenty-two per cent couldn't decide. (I suppose that is good for the centage that doesn't care as long as the object is female.) Those who preferred blondes said they were "more affectionate" and those who favored brunettes said they have "more common sense." The majority voted "good housekeeping" also. Intelligence, gentleness, temperance and even—get this, faithfulness. That, I find, I am extremely dubious about. Men are still very old-fashioned concerning their wife's morals.

Now listen to this, girls, and take heed. "If your husband complains that wives don't make enough effort to keep themselves (1) romantic, (2) neat in appearance, or (3) charming as they were before marriage."

Still they admit they would rather be married than single. (Maybe the gals, regardless of all the discrepancies, have a sense of humor.)

This was surprising! When asked what the majority of men noticed about a woman first as she approached them on the street they answered:—"Her face and eyes," next was her clothes, (whether they fit well or not) then her legs, and then her figure. So, girls, watch your faces! You can all be beautiful—few of us are fundamentally—but we can certainly see to it that we keep a clear skin, and study make-up and shades of powder, etc., until, we find the most becoming. Have you been using the same type and shade of rouge and lipstick for twenty years or more? Well, change over to a newer, more enhancing shade. How do I know it will work? Because your skin texture and skin tones are bound to have altered in that length of time. I'll wager lots of you have acquired grey hair, also. Then you should be using brighter shades or you'll look mossy. Tint grey eyebrows and lashes to give depth to your eyes—but be aware of eye shadow. It is only for the very young or the theatrical. It exaggerates lines and we don't even want to call attention to those things, do we? Remember that hair has everything to do with the face. Try different ways of wearing it until you find a softer, more becoming way. When a man says he first looks at a woman's face actually he sees a composite picture of hair-do, skin tones, features and, most important of all, expression. So, see to it that all these co-ordinate into making a pleasing and attractive whole. It is a true saying that if we had to look at our own faces all the time we would work harder on them. Maybe you're not trying to intrigue some man. Well, you'd better get busy, then. Remember husbands deserve a break. After all, the guys work hard for us. Shouldn't we give them value received? Shouldn't we make them feel like it's worth while and that the man-hours they put in are not in vain? I know of one young wife, who she religiously cleanses her face before retiring, deftly applies a light coating of lipstick so that when her husband greets her in the morning he will not get too severe a shock. Keeping a man in love with you is up to you and the aforementioned survey convinces you as to what men expect or at least hope for.

In the same survey when asked if they would care to have a woman again only 52 per cent were certain they would. That's a pretty poor average.

The favorite names of most of them were Mary, Elizabeth, Helen and Susan. Frankly I don't believe a man cares what your name is as long as he can pronounce it, but those just happen to be pretty common names and the easiest to remember.

Men say they are the most level-headed—and women agree. Women say they are more thrifty—and men agree. (But not the man in this house.)

Anyway, all all they are a pretty swell bunch of guys and we should make them as proud of us as we can manage. Let's all take a good shot at it.

Sweet potatoes are back in the markets again and new ways to use them are always welcome. This is a unique method and quite delicious. You will need:

1-9 oz. pkg. mince-meat.
1 cup water
1 lb. pork sausage meat
4 cups cooked 1/2-in. thick sweet potato slices
1/2 tea. vinegar.
3 tbs. butter.
2 cups sliced apple.
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed.

Break mince-meat into small pan. Add water. Place over low heat and stir until lumps are broken. Boil briskly 5 minutes. Slowly cook sausage in iron skillet until brown, breaking meat into small pieces. As it cooks, Remove from heat. Pour off drippings and drain meat on absorbent paper. Combine sausage and mince-meat. Put half of potato in bottom of greased 2 qt. casserole. Sprinkle with half of vinegar and dot with half of butter. Cover with sausage mixture. Add apples, arranging them in a layer. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Place remaining potatoes over top. Then sprinkle again with vinegar and sugar. Cover and bake in moderate oven 573 degrees for thirty minutes. Uncover and continue baking until apples are tender and potatoes lightly browned—about 25 min. This is practically a whole meal in one with a fruit salad added and a custard for dessert, followed by small cups of cafe noir.

If you use the old method of polishing silver take a pipe cleaner and dip in silver polish to clean between the times of the forks.

Did you know that both black and white pepper come from the same plant. The black pepper is ground from the unpierced berries.
